Common Sense Gardens designs are inspired by permaculture design principles that focus on the relationship between people, places and plants.

We use permaculture assessments and client feedback to help you create garden spaces that makes sense for your lifestyle in your home or work space.

Challenges:

What are the factors you cannot change such as a sunny area, or a pet area, or a neighbor's hedge?

---

What are the contours or shapes that dominate the landscape? _____

---

What are your water sources, soil types, and other natural elements? _____

---

---

---

Your Vision:

Do you prefer more naturalistic settings or a cultivated look? _____

Do you want animals (i.e. bees, rabbits, chickens, frogs, birds and other natural habitat)? _____

Do you prefer native, ornamental, edible or tropical plants (or all four)? _____

---

Preferred colors, scents or sounds? _____

Preferred materials (rock, wood, water, metal)? _____

Other special considerations (water features, art, dining areas, etc.)? _____

---

What is your timeframe for this project? _____

How long do you plan to reside here? _____

The design process includes client education, place-based design (using native, ornamental and mixed plant guilds) and site-specific remedies that result in a unique landscape experience.
